

TORTURE OF THE FEMALE ORGAN

SEERSGATE IS LEADING:

Various nations will openly permit the torture of the female sexual organ. Could there be a doctor who would perform their version of female circumcision as if a female had the same organs as a male? Nowhere in Scripture is this degrading way given. A closer look reveals that some women undergo the procedure to achieve the status of a woman in their culture. And it's a plan that will generally have ways to be provided by the older women of the gathering. The pain accompanying the cutting can be covered in a plan to prepare to be perceived as honored.

What is the root reason for performing this act? This female circumcision is a ritual masked as a release of power. It's a way to gain a plan for joining their chosen deity. Whatever lives within that woman that hinders her as a woman, in her mental life and in her social engagements, will seem to be released in this archaic act. A binding covenant is produced. And whatever plan is connected to it joins the person's spirit as a ruling agent. It's like a person wearing a ring given ritual significance that will bond them to the symbol carved into it.

A bond in the person's spirit gives a covenant that joins them to the plan they turn to when wearing the ring. With the cutting of the human female genitals, there is a covenant within the person that will join them with their given culture. Is it worth it—joining with a cultural act that brings pain and many levels of health issues? Is it worth having complex healings to deal with, and is it not guaranteed that the wound area will fully heal?

Specific spiritual influences can bring a hindering covenant into spiritual transactions, carrying a weight that cannot be borne by joining any culture.

Be careful; the female organ brings a pleasurable sexual release, with healing in the marriage bed. Taking this healthy release from the woman takes away her fullness in married ways. Touching the female in private ways when love in the Great King Jesus leads will bring her levels of enjoyment in her right to be a woman. This form of touching your spouse is God's will. And there is no dishonor in being a woman when fully being enabled to have deep sexual release through her female organ within Yahweh's plan. Amen.
